Paris hot spots designers swear by

BOH By BOH Staff

With much of the industry heading to Paris next week for Déco Off and Maison&Objet, Business of Home tapped our network and asked 13 in-the-know designers to share the shops, restaurants, hotels and attractions they flock to while in the City of Light.

WHERE TO STAY, EAT AND DRINK

“I love the boutique hotels that Maison&Objet has placed me in over my decade as their global trend ambassador. [I have stayed] all over the city, learning about various Paris neighborhoods and arrondissements. A few I have enjoyed are Maison Mère, Hôtel Grands Boulevards, Hotel Chouchou, Les Dames du Pantheon, and The Hoxton. The [first two] have great restaurants—always a wonderful addition for any trip abroad.” —Patti Carpenter, Carpenter + Company, New York

“I think of the Hotel Costes as my home away from home in Paris. If I’m not staying there, I’m meeting friends for coffee or drinks in the hotel’s gorgeous courtyard or enjoying long dinners in the cozy dining rooms. It’s always buzzing, yet so relaxed and chic! When I’m not dining at Costes, I love to frequent the classics—Chez l’Ami Louis, Le Voltaire and Chez Georges.” —Sara Story, Sara Story Design, New York
